

A caring transport service

HAVING transport and a friend to help them around is crucial for the elderly and people with disabilities so they can get to medical appointments, social engagements, the shops, hair and beauty appointments or just to get out to enjoy the sights.

Driving Miss Daisy is a reliable companion driving service offering transportation for those who are geographically isolated from family or friends, have limited support networks, barriers to transport or those who need a helping hand with day to day errands and tasks.

Their approach is to be a "family when family can't be there".

Donna and Tony Orth recently opened the Driving Miss Daisy franchise in the Shellharbour region, that services the Illawarra and South Coast.

"Driving Miss Daisy has been rolled out successfully in the UK and New Zealand, having provided well over one million trips for passengers. It is now available in Shellharbour and is starting in various other parts of Australia." Donna said.

"Amidst COVID-19 we are ensuring the safety and well-being of all those using our services, as a top priority."

Driving Miss Daisy recognises the importance for passengers to maintain their independence and live life to the full enjoying a safe and fun filled experience.

"Our service stands apart from taxis and drive share curb-to-curb vehicles. We provide a safe, reliable, and friendly companion driving service offering more than just transportation," Tony said.

"Each franchise owner and all drivers are insured, vetted by the Australian Police, are First Aid and Friends of Dementia trained, Working with Children checked (WWCC) and hold a small passenger vehicle licence giving you and your family peace of mind.

"Driving Miss Daisy itself provides detailed operations manuals and applies stringent occupational health and safety standards with particular emphasis on compliance with COVID regulations. It is a fantastic service."
