

Aaron Chidgzey

Aaron began completed his honours thesis in theology at Vose Serminary in 2014 before completing a PhD at Murdoch University in 2019. During this time he worked as an adjunct lecturer at Vose and a pastor at both Yangebup Baptist and Claremont Baptist Church. His areas of interest range across various disciplines, but the particular focus of his research has been the resurrection of Jesus and the thought of Wolfhart Pannenberg and N.T. Wright. Since 2020, Aaron has worked full-time at Morling College as a trainer, assessor, and content developer for the VET courses, a developer and administrator for the online platform, and a lecturer in Christian thought and history.

David Cohen

For 17 years David has been Head of the Department of Bible and languages on the Vose campus and has taught mainly in those areas. In addition to this he has been involved in the worship life of the college through music, worship leading and offering workshops on prayer and meditation. David is also the Head of Bible and Languages for the ACT, and has been in that role for 5 years. This offers him the opportunity to observe what is happening in this area of teaching across the consortium.

Brian Harris

Brian has pastored churches in South Africa, New Zealand and Australia, and has also been involved in theological education in each of these countries. He was the Principal of Vose Seminary, in Perth Australia from 2004 - 2020. Brian has served on the board of several Christian schools including the Western Australian and National Council of Christian Schools Australia. Brian is in demand as a speaker and teacher. His PhD has been published by Mellen Press, and he has written numerous articles in both scholarly and popular journals, and well as contributing chapters to several books.

Michael Kok

After serving as an adjunct lecturer and ministry intern in Canada, Michael moved to Perth in 2018 to take up his current role. Michael teaches in the area of the New Testament and early Christian history. On top of this, he supervises research projects, advises undergraduate students in their course pathways, plans student events with the student team, and organizes the weekly chapel service.

Michael O'Niell

Michael has taught Christian Thought and History at Vose Campus in Perth since 2010. He has particular interests in the theology of Karl Barth, theological ethics, and the doctrine and practice of the Christian life. Michael says, "I love the way reading and studying theology has deepened my faith, broadened my vision, enriched my ministry and changed my life. I hope you find that studying theology brings you into closer proximity to and alignment with Jesus."

Lloyd Porter

Lloyd joined Vose Seminary in 2013 as the Director of Missions and was also the Academic Dean at Vose for the last two years prior to the merger. Lloyd is now the Associate Dean of Bible and Theology with Morling and lectures in Mission. Lloyd served as a missionary in Russia for 15 years and continues to visit Siberia regularly teaching and training in OM Russia's discipleship training school.
